Coming to a new country always brings some anxiety, but my transition from Bangladesh to India has been remarkably smooth. The admission process was clear and well-organised, and the mentors and counsellors went out of their way to guide me at every step. Choosing to pursue my master's degree abroad was one of the most important decisions of my life — and I am glad I chose Bennett University for my M. Tech in AI. What drew me to Bennett was its clear focus on future-facing technology.

Having access to the NVIDIA Super Lab gave me the opportunity to work on machine learning and deep learning projects using advanced computing resources. This hands-on experience helped me connect classroom learning with real-world applications and strengthened my technical skills. Beyond academics, campus life has been vibrant and enjoyable. Hostel life added another dimension to the experience, with late-night walks within the campus premises, preparing for fests and competitions, and spending hours at the Learning Resource Centre (LRC) during late-night study sessions with friends before exams and project deadlines.
